

Press Release

LinkedIn Taps Arumai CEO, P. Stephen Lamont, as the 8th Ranked CEO for Private Technology Companies in Silicon Valley.

San Jose, Cal., December 22, 2017/PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- Arumai Technologies, Inc., the only leading, independent, pure-play OTT products and solutions company, notes that LinkedIn has ranked CEO, P. Stephen Lamont, as the 8th Ranked CEO for private technology companies in Silicon Valley at <https://www.linkedin.com/search/results/people/?keywords=%22Chairman%2C+Ceo%22&origin=SEOKP&type=people&trk=seokp-title-professionals-seeall> .

Remarked, P. Stephen Lamont, Chairman & CEO, “Naturally, I am honored that LinkedIn regards me that highly. I believe the ranking reflects the piercing strategy signed off by our Board in an industry that, presently, knows no bounds rather than anything I have done personally.” I saw the writing on the wall in March 2013, when I won an ownership dispute at the United States Patent and Trademark Office that awarded Arumai, among others, U.S. Patent Application No. 09/587,026, the streaming video patent that has the earliest priority date of any patent that reads on varying transfer rates for digital video taking into account varying bandwidth as measured by the Shannon-Hartley Law solving for C; the rest was academic.

It could also be that, by design, Arumai does not accept investment from Sand Hill Road VCs in Menlo Park, Cal who make many more bad investments than good only we just do not hear about them.

Lamont closed by stating “Arumai has always been about something much more important than patents, products, money, or LinkedIn rankings. It’s about values. We value originality and innovation and pour our lives into making the best products on earth, and we do this to delight our customers. I am very proud of the support that each team member has supplied. Starting at the impending launch of Arumai TranStream™ and continuing patent applications that defensively support, values will win and I hope the whole world listens.”